

A Glimpse Into The Minds Of Those Who Take Islam Most To Heart

From an article on the attack in Tunisia, by David Kirkpatrick, published in The New York Times:

“Westerners and Israelis, the group suggested, were ideal targets. “You should hunt them everywhere, especially the French, the Americans, the British and the Israelis,” the message said. “Lure them in roads, lodges, dance clubs and bars. Slaughter them on the beaches, drown them in the sea, poison them on the roads by giving them something poisoned to eat, break their skull with a stone, or suffocate them with a pillow in the room.”