

A Mass Islamic Rally Calling for Infidels to Convert

Right in the Heart of NYC

A worried friend sent me this Instagram from David Michael Lynch. I cannot figure out where this rally—rather this call for infidels to convert to Islam—took place. It looks very much like the rather aggressive displays by Islamists all over the UK; like the mass street Islamic prayer services in NYC which, in the past, have purposely blocked traffic and pedestrians.

I am not sure whether it took place after or before Mamdani was elected. The prayer leader is calling for Brooklyn, Queens, and the Bronx to repeat the words that non-Muslims must recite in order to be converted. Strange, he does not mention Staten Island.

Does anyone know where and when this rally took place? Looks like it might have been in Manhattan.

Oh, more good news. A Brooklyn yeshiva was vandalized with Nazi graffiti after Mamdani was elected. Will this only get worse? Will it escalate to property destruction, bombings, stabbings?
