

Amir Hetsroni And The Israeli Left That Despises "Arab" Jews But Finds Arab Arabs Just Fine

One more manifestation of the hysterical despair, of the Israeli left, at the election results, at the realisation that there are many in Israel unwilling to be pushed around by J Street-funded American experts in media manipulation, and who remain clear-eyed about the Arab, the Muslim Arab, and Muslim Iranian, threa to Israel's survival.

The New York Times published a piece on this hysteria, though it didn't call it that. Here's an excerpt:

"But as the results trickled in on Wednesday, they showed Likud with a shocking lead that has all but guaranteed Netanyahu a third consecutive term. Netanyahu called it a victory "against all odds." The liberals' optimism has been replaced with despair – and an infuriating belief that the masses may never understand that logic shows the current path is suicidal."

"Drink cyanide, bloody Neanderthals. You won," award-winning Israeli author and actress Alona Kimhi wrote on her Facebook page, before erasing it as her comments became the talk of the town. "Only death will save you from yourselves."

Such rage rippled through liberal Israel this week. Social media was full of embittered Israelis accusing Netanyahu's supporters of racism, and some vowed to stop donating charity to the underprivileged whom they perceived as being automatic supporters of the right."
