

And Yet Another Aussie-Passport-Holding Muslim Gets Killed Waging jihad With Islamic State in Syria

It is, of course, not absolutely certain, as yet. But it seems highly probable. News that broke at the beginning of this week.

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2015-05-18/melbourne-teen-reportedly-killed-in-middle-east-fighting-for-is/6477286>

“Melbourne Teen Irfaan Hussein Reportedly Killed Fighting With Islamic State; DFAT Seeking Confirmation.

‘News Corp has reported [that] the family of Melbourne teenager Irfaan Hussein, 19 (that is: “the Melbourne-resident family of young Muslim man Irfaan Hussein, 19” – CM) said he had died while fighting with members of Islamic State (IS) in the Middle East.

‘Foreign Minister Julie Bishop said the department’s ability to follow up reports of deaths in either Iraq or Syria was “severely limited”.

Understatement of the year. One does, however, understand why it’s a good idea to try to make sure they’re dead. We don’t want them presumed dead and then sneaking back in under a different identity to wreak mayhem, months or even years down the track...- CM

“If this report is correct, he will be one of more than 30 Australians (sic: she should be saying, “more than 30 Australian-passport-holding Muslims” – CM) killed in this terrorist cause”, she said in a statement.

Offing themselves for Allah and in hopes of furthering the grand program – Total World Domination for the allah gang or Mohammedan Mob. – CM

“It is profoundly disturbing that young Australians (sic: “young Australia-resident Muslims, whether raised-Muslim or converts to Islam” – CM) are being lured to their death by this barbaric terrorist organisation.

Isn’t it what they are aiming to do to others – and the nature of the truly, madly, deeply Muslim Caliphate they are trying to help create – that should disturb you much more than their deaths? – CM

‘The Australian Government is taking action to prevent the flow of terrorist fighters and funds to Daesh (Islamic State).’

If they remain in Australia, sooner or later they will Go Jihad on Australian non-Muslims, somewhere or other. Keep them here, and risk an Australian Beslan. So, let them go. Don’t let them come back. But if you’re worried about them murdering Yazidis and Assyrian Christians, there are things that can be done to make that harder for them to achieve.

Find ways of making it easier for Yazidis and Assyrian Christian refugees to escape to Australia and other majority-Infidel lands...and/ or make supply arms, assistance, and military training, whether covert or overt, to any able-bodied Yazidi or Assyrian Christian who is prepared to dig in and fight back against the genocidal Muslim attackers. Help them – those Yazidis and Assyrians – and them alone. Oh, and a further step that should be taken, to buy us a bit of time and start bringing our homeland security headache back toward manageable proportions – stop importing Muslims. Not one more Muslim of any sort, under any pretext whatsoever, should be permitted to enter Australia henceforward. – CM

‘In March this year, another Melbourne teenager, Jake Bilardi

(dear ABC: that should be “Jake Bilardi, a convert to Islam” – CM) was killed after allegedly being involved in a series of suicide bombings coordinated by Islamic State in Iraq.

And that reminds me of something else that needs to start happening, fast: an upfront campaign to inoculate non-Muslim Aussies against Muslim dawa. Starting by open, public discussion of the reality of the Islamic apostasy law – they really are supposed to kill, and very often do kill or try to kill, anyone who tries to leave the cult. The fewer people convert to Islam the better. Islam needs to be seen for what it is, not only bizarre (the hatred for dogs, the masking and covering of women, the suppression of music and visual arts) but also a deadly dangerous, a cult that behaves like an organised crime ‘family’. – CM

‘Ms Bishop urged Australians (sic: Australia-resident Muslims – CM) not to travel to Syria or Iraq.

Why are you trying to stop them? If you keep these high-on-Islam young Muslims here, sooner or later – and probably sooner – you will get an atrocity like the Beslan school massacre, or the bombing of the Boston marathon, or the beheading of Lee Rigby or the kidnap and torture-murder of Ilan Halim, or the assault upon the Westgate Mall in Nairobi.

Let them go; don’t let them come back; and then arm and train and help the Yazidis and Assyrian Christians so that the murderous jihadis instead of battenning on helpless prey will find themselves getting their heads bitten off by lions. – CM

“Not only are they putting their own lives in mortal danger (they don’t care two hoots about that, Ms Bishop; they are all fired up for the glory and dominance of the allah gang if they win and stay alive and if they get killed, well, that means they’re an Islamic ‘martyr’ and they think they’re in for all those luscious houris, besides getting exemption from the dreaded ‘torments of the grave’ for a selection of lucky friends-and-relations. – CM) they are adding to the suffering of the people of Iraq and Syria.” her statement said.

But adding to the suffering is what it’s all about, Ms Bishop. They want to add to the suffering: the (as they see it, deserved and allah-ordained and pleasing-to-allah) suffering – the punishment, up to and including capital punishment – of all those heretical Alawites, heretical Shiites, and filthy, filthy, not-really-human Yazidi and Christian unbelievers. – CM

‘Hussein reportedly attended Lyndale Secondary College at North Dandenong with Abdul Numan Haider.

The non-Muslim state school he attended is quite irrelevant, except insofar as it seems to have had other Muslims on campus. It would be much more relevant to ask what mosque or mosques he attended. – CM

‘Haider, 18, was shot by police in September last year after stabbing two police officers outside the Endeavour Hills Police station in Melbourne’s south-east.

‘In a statement, the school said it tried to provide a positive influence for students.

Do they permit Muslim ‘religious instruction’ on campus? Do they go out of their way to validate and accommodate Muslim dress, ‘prayers’, food restrictions? If they do, then they should stop. No special treatment for Muslims. If they don’t, then they can hardly be blamed for the Muslim religious zeal that is nurtured not only by Islamic sites online – over which a school has no more control than over any other site its students may, when at home and on non-school computers – choose to access, but also by the home, the mosque, the Ummah or Mohammedan Mob. – CM

“Our staff work tirelessly to provide pathways and options for all of our students while at school”, the college said in a statement. “What students do once they have left our school is something we have no control over.”

Yes. Instead of focusing on the hapless secular school it would make more sense to focus on the families – immediate and extended – and the mosques within which these young Muslims are being formed; in which they are becoming the kinds of people who are all too willing to heed the summons to Jihad. – CM

‘News Corp also reported that Hussein was connected to three of the men arrested in terror raids linked to Anzac Day in Melbourne in April.”

What a surprise. Not.

Oh well, he’s gone. With any luck he’s dead and will never be coming back to be a permanent menace to any and all non-Muslim Aussies. – CM