

Israel in the Crosshairs

article wrote about the use of the Misr (Egypt) Iran Development Bank founded in 1975 that enabled the Islamic Republic to avoid international oil sanctions. In his article, Schanzer points out a large mural in Tehran of Khaled al-Islambouli the Gama'a al-Islamiyya terrorist who assassinated President Anwar Sadat.

undertaken long distance raids in the Sudan to interdict Iranian-supplied arms convoys. Should Israel undertake a possible unilateral action against Iran's nuclear facilities, would Egypt somehow be involved to support Hamas, the Muslim Brotherhood in Palestine, by launching rocket and missile attacks on Israel's southern border as part of a counter-attack in a multi-front regional war?
