

College Commencement Season Makes You Think Of Only One Thing

It's Huxley College, with its ineffable President and faculty members, deliberately eliciting the same response – hilarity – that most, or almost all, or possibly even all, college commencements in these United States unwittingly do today.