

Culturist Immigration Policy: It's "Who We Are"

by John K. Press (January 2016)

President Obama and the United States Congress are now fighting over whether or not to restrict the Syrian refugees the President wants to bring into the nation. To those who wish to differentiate between religions or cultural groups in immigration policy, Obama said, "That's shameful. That's not American. That's not who we are." more>>>