

Demography And Boumediene

One of the comments to Ivan Rioufol's latest article reads thus:

luc | 21 janvier 2015 13h47 | Répondre

L'histoire de ces terroristes confirme l'incroyable natalité de leurs parents.

Khaled Kelkal, tué en 1995, venait d'une famille algérienne de 8 enfants.

Il y a 5 ans, le père de Mohammed Merah a eu son 14ème enfant.

Amedy Coulibaly venait d'une famille malienne de 10 enfants.

La mère des frères Kouachi est décédée, enceinte de son 6ème enfant.

Voilà le résultat des allocations braguettes !

Yes, and to that list might be added Hayat Boumediene, the petite amie of Amedy Coulibaly. She is one of five.

And do you remember, from reading about the war in Gaza, all those tear-jerking details about Mohammed X, with nine children, and Mohammed Y, with 13 children – all of them impoverished, which was somehow, the reporter wanted you to know, the fault of the Israelis. And then those stories during the war in Iraq, about Ahmed X, with fourteen children, and Ahmed Y, with seventeen children – and the families, every one of them, impoverished and in need of Western aid.

And do you remember another Boumediene, dour-faced Houari, of the FLN, who ran Algeria, and in 1974 made a little trip to the U.N. and there delivered a speech, and in that speech he said, among other things, this:

«Un jour, des millions d'hommes quitteront l'hémisphère Sud pour aller dans l'hémisphère Nord. Et ils n'iront pas là-bas en tant qu'amis. Parce qu'ils iront là-bas pour le conquérir. Et ils le conquerront avec leurs fils. Les ventres de nos femmes nous donnera la victoire.»

Englished:

One day, millions of men will leave the southern for the northern hemisphere. And they won't go there as friends. They will go there to conquer. And they will conquer through their children. The wombs of our women will give us victory.