

Embassy Moves to Jerusalem: 'First A Little, Thence to More'

by Hugh Fitzgerald

Now there are three. Kosovo became the third state to recognize Jerusalem as the capital of Israel and will be placing its embassy there this spring. This takes on a special importance because it is also the first Muslim state to make such a move, which may in the future be emulated by the boldest, most determinedly friendly to Israel, Arab state, now moving full-speed ahead with its normalization of ties with the Jewish state – the U.A.E. If that happens, others – most likely Bahrain, the Maldives, and Morocco – could be the next Muslim states to follow suit.

Here's the report on the Kosovo Embassy, and the Czech "embassy branch," now in Jerusalem: "Following Prague, Kosovo to open embassy in Jerusalem,” by Ariel Kahana and Yori Yalon, Jihad Watch.
