For Israel, It's Time to Recognize the Armenian Genocide

by Hugh Fitzgerald

The recognition by the United States of the Armenian Genocide now puts more pressure on those nations that have yet to do so, and especially on Israel, that has until now refused, for reasons of misplaced – and increasingly nonsensical – realpolitik. A report on why Israel has for so long refused to recognize the first genocide of the 20th century, and the moral cost of that refusal, is here: "Why has Israel not yet recognized the Armenian Genocide?," by Jeremy Sharon, Jihad Watch.
