

French music festivals cancel Eagles of Death Metal performances over anti-Islam remarks

A man witnesses the massacre of 90 people by Muslim terrorists; they are his fans and some are his friends. Then he, a victim, is the one punished when he expresses his displeasure. From November 13 attack on the Bataclan theater.

The festival organizers said they were in “total disagreement” with the allegations.

Festivals

French music festivals cancel Eagles of Death Metal performances over anti-Islam remarks

Music festival organizers in France have canceled performances by the Eagles of Death Metal following controversial remarks by its frontman. The band’s Bataclan concert was a target of November’s Paris terror attacks.

The Rock en Seine and Cabaret Vert festivals announced Friday that the band would no longer feature in their line-ups after its singer Jesse Hughes said in a magazine interview that he “saw Muslims celebrating in the street” during the November 13 attack on the Bataclan theater.

The festival organizers said they were in