

Greta Thunberg

by Gary Fouse

In a way, I should not be paying attention to Greta Thunberg, the 16-year-old Swedish girl who is now a world-known climate activist after she came to America and appeared before the UN and the US House of Representatives with her angry “How dare you” speech. Since she has been put on the world stage by her parents and other adult activists, she should be discussed, however..

My initial reaction to watching her ugly speeches was to compare her to the fictional Swedish children’s