Hamas terrorists post Israeli grandmother's gruesome murder on her Facebook

An Israeli grandmother was murdered by Hamas terrorists who then shared the gruesome killing on her own Facebook account, her family said.

Granddaughters Mor and Adi Bayder shared tributes to the matriarch and "pillar" of the family on Facebook, revealing they only learnt of her death after "terribly cruel" terrorists "filmed and uploaded" images online.

"I never thought I would reach such a reality at all," said Adi Bayder in a tribute post.

In a separate post, Mor Bayder said: "A terrorist came home to her, killed her, took her phone, filmed the horror and published it on her Facebook wall. This is how we found out."

She paid tribute to her grandmother, calling her "the purest thing in the world, the light of my life, my whole world".

She described her love of gardening and enjoying sunsets in her garden.

Other members of the Bayder family said they were sharing news of their "beloved grandmother" so that the "whole world would hear and know" about the massacre in Nir Oz.

"We won't sit quietly until everyone returns in peace," the family said, in reference to the Israelis still being held hostage by Hamas.

In her tribute, Adi Bayer said: "How do you get on with life without her at all? But we have to because that's how she would want it, she would want us to stay strong and united and that's how it will be."
