

Happy New Year from England

It is 90 minutes short of midnight in England (and Scotland, Wales and Ireland, but I am in England, and so is this tree).

I don't know what type of tree this is, just that I admire the shape and twists every time I visit this wood. Taken December last year.

Happy New Year to all men and women of goodwill.