

Here is the Iranian Video Media Claims Doesn't Exist

Washington Post, Conservative Tree House.

Here is a translation of the part of it:

On the day that the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action ("JCPOA") to be announced, Islamic Republic of Iran accepted the proposal that Iranians had in mind to release the hostages. From the time the 4 Americans were arrested on spying charges, America had unsuccessfully pressured the Iranians to release their hostages. Americans had repeatedly demanded release of their spies as a condition of negotiations. Once American's realized there would be no release of their hostages they decided to continue their negotiations the reduce pressure on the U.S. Government.

Islamic Republic of Iran had a high demand for release of American hostages as following;

- Release of 7 Iranians from U.S. jails
- $1.7 billion dollars
- Not perusing legal action against 16 Americas for violating the unjust U.S. sanctions

But this was not all that Iranians wanted they added removing Bank of "Sepah" from the sanctions list. All of these only for 4 U.S. hostages, a real good wining deal for the Islamic Republic of Iran to the loss of the Americans.

Democrats were worried that their Republican Presidential candidates would blame the existing U.S. officials the same way Jimmy Carter got blamed for U.S. hostages.....