

I saw the writing in the sky

The word is out. If you hate your life, if you are filled with rage, if you are mentally ill and off your meds—or on them, but they don't help—you can stab, shoot, sucker punch, and verbally humiliate a visibly Jewish person in public.

by Phyllis Chesler

Once Jewish blood is flowing in the streets and in the shuls, it is already too late, not to fight back, that is never too late, but to stem the tide of Jew hatred. The propaganda war against the Jews, the many thousands of Blood Libels, repeated in every language on earth, 24/7 for the last 50-100 years, has inevitably led us to where we find ourselves today.

We are in the midst of our own slow motion version of Kristallnacht, as my colleague Israel National News.
