

In her essence, Christie Blatchford embodied what's best about Canada

She came from a cold, rough mining town. There grew her appreciation for ordinary people, pleasure for uninhibited partying and joy in the virtues of hard work

by Conrad Black

The occasion must not be lost to pay tribute to *National Post*.