

In Uruguay, Those Resettled From Guantanamo Refuse To Work, Want Houses, Guaranteed Income

Jose Mujica, the President of Uruguay, who had accepted the six former residents of Guantanamo, is like many others in Uruguay, fed up with the Muslims, and their grotesque demands, and refusal to work (though they claim to want “jobs” – by which they presumably mean sinecures of some sort).

Story here.