

Influential Mumsnet Site Censors Day for Freedom, Freedom of Speech Discussion

From Day for Freedom march.

Apparently attempting to draw attention to the coming protest on the Mumsnet 'Feminism Chat' discussion board, user 'DonkeySkin' apologetically noted that while "some of these speakers have said things that go far beyond what is acceptable" to Mumsnet users, nonetheless "as many feminists are finding, we too are being silenced under the guise of 'hate speech'". Concluding, the user wrote: "I'm not quite sure how I feel really. I'm just wondering what other people's thoughts are on this, especially how it relates to the current silencing of feminists."

