

‘ISIS supporters’ try to claim responsibility for London stabbings

From One Arabic account, which posted snaps from the scene, wrote: “And here you have a picture of the site where the stabbing took place, Russell Square in the centre of ‘Christendom’ London.”

The attack follows warnings that IS may be deliberately aiming propaganda at people with mental health problems urging them to carry out violent attacks. Scotland Yard Commander Dean Haydon told the Express he has seen IS material targeting the vulnerable to inspire atrocities.
