Katy Waldman's Button: "Kiss me, I'm a liberal."

Katy Waldman:

> "If you want to become well-versed in English literature, > you're going to have to hold your nose and read a lot of > white male poets. Like, a lot. More than eight. The canon > of English literature is sexist. It is racist. It is > colonialist, ableist, transphobic, and totally gross. You > must read it anyway."
