

Leading Muslim Group Calls for Ramadan 'Jihad' Alongside Trump, Farage, May Headshots

From repeated declarations in favour of Islam.

Some may reflect upon the insensitivity of promoting a word or belief system that was used just days before to slaughter innocent people in the West.

The link in MPACUK's tweet takes readers to a LaunchGood crowdfunding page, where they claim to be seeking 20,000 GBP ($25,000 USD) in order to build an "Anti-Islamophobia Nerve Centre".

The website quotes Sulaiman Ghani, a preacher who backs the idea of an Islamic caliphate, and has previously targeted Ahmadiyya Muslims who are routinely oppressed by Sunnis in the United Kingdom and abroad.
