

Leytonstone Tube knife attack 'was to avenge Syria bombing'

ury must decide whether at the time of the attack, Mire intended to kill Mr Zimmerman.

Somali-born Mire had suffered from mental illness for years and arrived in the UK as a young boy, the court heard. He's obviously fit to stand trial.

Mobile phone video of the attack also captured Mire saying 'If you're Muslim you get bombed' and 'I'm going to attack your civilians.'

Mr Rees said: 'It provides an indication as to what motivated the defendant to attack random strangers with a knife. It appears he was motivated by revenge for what was occurring in Syria.'

His phone contained a graph showing numbers of US and coalition force air strikes on Islamic State and pictures of hostages apparently taken just before they had their throats cut.

The trial continues.