

Marc Trevidic, And The Murders At Goldenberg's Restaurant

Here.

The attack on the famous kosher restaurant Jo Goldenberg, on the rue des Rosiers, was the first major terrorist attack by Muslims. It left six dead and many wounded. After many years, the Juge d'instruction, Eric Trevidic, accumulated enough evidence to charge three men.

One lives in Jordan, another in Ramallah. And a third lives in Norway where, apparently, the chances of extraditing him are slim, unless he can be stripped of his Norwegian citizenship on the grounds that he lied in making his application for naturalization.