

Munich gunman dead – 18 year old of dual Iranian/German heritage.

From the Some witnesses describe hearing him yelling anti-foreigner insults before opening fire outside the McDonald's restaurant, near to the mall. In a later conversation with a witness, recorded on a mobile phone, the attacker said he was a German citizen.

Other media reported that the gunman had been bullied for “several years” and was seeking revenge.

US intelligence officials said initial reports from their German counterparts indicated no apparent link between the suspect and Islamic State or other militant groups.

Two others who fled the area quickly were investigated but had “nothing to do with the incident”.