

Muslim population in Britain could TRIPLE by 2050: New study predicts migration and birth rates will see surge in followers of Islam in the UK

The Muslim population could triple in some European countries by 2050, with the UK projected to see one of the most rapid rises throughout the continent.