

Neighbours of Isis-inspired terrorist recall previous moments which seemed 'strange'

Like the mosque being deserted for weeks before the attempted murders, despite the terrorist being ordered to live there under supervision, but members clear out furniture and 'items' the day before the attack. From the