

OUCH! Aging Venemously

Couple having an argument

A National Institute of Health questionnaire distinguishes between Alzheimer's and normal aging by asking if you have trouble having a conversation. Since our political differences have become so vicious, I suspect that after the get-together with our nearest and dearest over the holidays most of us would say emphatically, "You bet I do!"