

OUCH! Large-Scale Farming Does The Job Quicker

by Reg Green

The build-up to the new year seems to me to have been even more subdued than in the last year or two. It's that damn' Covid, which won't give up. As somebody said, at least the Grim Reaper gives his personal attention to each individual. Covid gathers in its crop like a combine harvester.