

Ouch! Two Paths Diverge

By Reg Green

Maybe these robots are not so smart after all.

As this year's college graduates disperse, AI Overview sums up their future like this: 'Life's path unfurls, a canvas yet unpainted, where possibilities bloom like wildflowers.'

Tom Lehrer saw it a little differently: 'Soon,' he said of his class, "we'll be sliding down the razor blade of life."