

Panodrama ~ live from Salford

The rally has started in Salford outside BBC North in Media City. I have a live feed from a facebook page – if you have FB you can find it via Panodrama – Unity News Network video. Avi Yemeni has come from Australia.

Currently Richard Ingham of veterans against terrorism is speaking. The film will be shown later; people are still arriving by tram from central Manchester.

Tommy has arrived and is about to speak

The camera has swung round to show the crowd; it looks like a good turn out and more on the way. Trouble with the trams apparently.

Gerard Batten leader of UKIP is now speaking. He spoke very well, in my opinion, about Brexit and related matters.

Estimates of the crowd have gone from 5000 to 10,000. There are now video and musical interludes until the Video is ready.

There was a break in transmission, but now I have found the new stream I can see that Tommy's documentary has begun.

I think this Hope not Hate are not happy. I didn't expect them to be really.

Stephen Yaxley-Lennon launched a ludicrous attack on HOPE not hate at his demonstration in Salford earlier today. Here's our response:

Nick Lowles? @lowles_nick

HOPE not hate totally refutes these bizarre and idiotic allegations. This is just a desperate attempt by Stephen Lennon to derail a programme that will unmask his criminality, threatening and bullying behaviour and racism.
