So were Muslims punished?

It sounds like most people had a good day.

From the Kent Live A police spokesman said: "While there are no reports locally, Kent Police is aware of the potential fear..."

From the Leicester MercuryOxford Mail Oxford Stand Up to Racism organised an event in Manzil Way, off Cowley Road…was backed by 40 political figures, including Oxford East MP Anneliese Dodds, trade unionists and a number of Labour and Green Party councillors. Note use of cycle helmet.

Nearly 100 people have formed a human chain outside a mosque in Metro A Muslim woman appears to have become one of the first victims of the so-called Punish a Muslim Day. Ramla Tyrow, 22, from east London, was picking her mum up from work this morning when she was allegedly attacked by someone in a 'white van' poruing liquid all over her. But she went to Twitter to complain, NOT the police.

I was waking to my car & a white van pulled up and they covered me in liquid. I thought it was acid at first, guys please stay safe, THIS IS NOT A JOKE

She has been
