

Something rooted

I don't know what sort of tree this is, which I spotted on a walk through some old established woodland this morning. But I love the root formation.

