

Something yellow

Wild daffodils, somewhere in England (not the Lake District, and fear not, I have no intention of quoting Wordsworth)

Sometimes called the Lent Lily. I'm socially excluding myself, but I can still commune with nature (otherwise known as talking to plants)

Photograph E Weatherwax England March 2020