

Speakers Corner this afternoon – Tommy Robinson arrested visiting Christian preacher Hatun Tash

I'm following a live feed at Speakers Corner in Hyde Park in London.

There is a young woman preacher, Hatun Tash of DCCI Ministries (Defend Christianity, Critique Islam), who bravely speaks at Speakers Corner challenging the Muslim domination there and speaking both positively of Christ and pointing out the flaws in the Koran.

Any speaker at Speakers Corner expects lively debate. However the Muslims who dominate Speakers Corner have threatened and violently opposed and assaulted her, to the extent that in July she was assaulted. As a result of this in August the police warned her not to attend Speakers Corner again as they believed that certain Muslims intended to kill her and thus it was too dangerous. I don't know if this was an official Osman warning or not. In any event she returned and in September she had to be escorted out of Hyde Park by police for her own safety. This is a full video footage here. She was told that if she returned there she would be arrested. This raises many questions about the home of free speech. It appears that the police believe that it is no longer safe for Christians to critique Islam there. The police were prepared to step in and remove Hatun and prevent her from sharing the gospel there. Where next for free speech in this world-famous location?

There is no doubt that Hatun was being provocative. That is her style. To be quite honest, if you are not provocative at Speakers' Corner, then no-one will bother listening to you. Those who go to Speakers' Corner go there expecting provocative things to be said and done. That is the nature of the place. Muslims are routinely provocative in their criticism of Christianity at Speakers' Corner, as is their right.

Famously, with the help of others, Hatun has taken 26 different Arabic Qur'ans to Speakers' Corner and explained that they are all different. This point is very disturbing to Muslims who have been taught that the Qur'an is eternal and unchangeable and perfectly preserved. The Muslim leaders were so alarmed by this display that you can see them in the video calling other Muslims to come away because they didn't want them to hear or see this material, against which they had no answer. Textual criticism of the Qur'an is now a rapidly developing field of study and the Islamic world is still struggling to know how to respond to evidence of multiple different Qur'ans. A leading Muslim apologist shocked the Islamic world when he recently admitted that there are real issues, and stated that "Zero News live feed that the situation got lively and the police moved in quickly to remove him, claiming his possession of an offensive weapon.

One of his supporters expressed the opinion to the Zero News reporter that Tommy would be neither have anything about his person, and nor would he brandish anything that could be construed as a weapon at the watching police.

What he was pictured with at one point was a gift of a box of chocolates.

I watched the police robustly pushing Miss Tash's supporters quite a few of which are middle-aged ladies (who would have included people who had come with or to support Tommy) along the path in Hyde Park away from Speakers Corner. Opinion is that policing was over zealous, especially compared with the careful handling of the Muslims who burned a photograph of President Macron and chanted rude slogans outside the French Embassy on Friday.

Muslim men surrounded them and the 'gentlemen' below were telling the cameraman "fuck you, fuck you, fuck Tommy" and "we'll break your jaw".

Tommy Meeting Hatun At Speakers Corner LIVE Via Zero News

I don't know the whereabouts of Miss Tash. The live feed has ended, the weather is miserable and it's getting dark so I imagine all genuine debating will be coming to a natural end shortly.

Oh, and if you are wondering about the use of the zero digit in T0mmy's name and not the usual 'o' its one of the efforts that have to be made to prevent social media algorithms detecting a mention of 'he who they don't like being named'. Believe me, one can get a Facebook ban or time in facebook jail for it.
