

Sunday ~ Ofsted voted Islamophobe of the Year.
Tuesday ~ Ofsted produces
dossier of worst discrimination it has encountered.

From Islamic propaganda site The Times this morning of “of the worst examples of discrimination and sexism its inspectors encountered.”

One school Ofsted visited encouraged children to read a text that contrasted the “noble women of the East” with the “internally torn woman of the West” who attracts men and leaves her home to hang around aimlessly in cinemas and cafés.

Other library books insisted that in a Muslim marriage “the wife is not allowed to refuse sex to her husband” or “leave the house where she lives without his permission” while boys and girls were taught that “the man by way of correction can also beat her”. Work marked by teachers stated that women had a responsibility “only to bear children and bring them up as Muslims”.

Among the worst examples was a book discovered in a school library entitled, “Women who deserve to go to hell” which said that it was wrong for wives to show “ingratitude to their husband” or “have tall ambitions”

Ofsted insiders said the books and writings made for “uncomfortable reading”. They are concerned not only that religious schools are using inappropriate materials, but that well-intentioned mainstream schools are permitting extreme forms of Islam in the belief they are being inclusive.

It is understood the material in the dossier may be used in training for inspectors.
