

The America First Movement Isn't Going Away

by Rebecca Bynum

As Nancy Pelosi tilts at windmills trying once again to impeach the greatest President in living memory, attempting to kill his political career once and for all, and Republicans try to retake the party and return it to Bush-Clinton mediocrity, I believe they are all miscalculating. President Trump still leads the largest and most powerful political movement in the country. The Democrats have won this round, but, as Lee Smith characterizes it, the party of the Country will remain in opposition to the party of the Establishment (both Republican and Democrat).

We will not submit to China. We will not submit to Big Tech. We will fight for our freedom. We are Americans.
