

The Fight Against Anti-Semitism begins in our Universities

by Gary Fouse

The year 2016 was not a good year for Jewish students at many of our universities. The AMCHA Initiative, which was co-founded by University of California Hebrew Professor Tammi Rossman Benjamin and UCLA Professor Emeritus Leila Beckwith, both of whom I am proud to call friends and colleagues, has since its conception, documented and protested the never-ending incidents of anti-Semitism directed at Jewish university students mostly in California. Along with the Louis D. Brandeis Center for Human Rights Under the Law, they