

The Guardian Lies Again About Israel, the Vaccine Rollout, and the Palestinians

by Hugh Fitzgerald

Enemies of Israel have used the Jewish state's amazingly swift vaccination of its population against the coronavirus as a weapon against the Jewish state. Instead of praising Israel for its remarkable feat of ensuring that 17% of the Israeli population has already been vaccinated – more than ten times the percentage of Americans now vaccinated – many media accounts criticized Israel for not having vaccinated the Palestinians in Gaza and the West Bank.

Sara Ha'etzni-Cohen examines how the anti-Israel British paper The Guardian reported on Israel's vaccine rollout here: "Sometimes, the Palestinians are just an excuse," by Sara
