

The Hotel of Other-Worldly Delights

by James LePore (August 2016)

I wasn't on the side of the road long before a car pulled up behind me and a very pretty young man came over and asked me in perfect English if I needed help. The used Fiat that I had bought in Rome had overheated and would not go another foot. I nodded, yes I do. What kind of pictures do you take? he asked me. more>>>