

The New York Times is a monument to hypocrisy

by Lev Tsitrin

The New York Times' Editorial Board routinely engages in righteous indignation – yet that indignation is highly selective. Consider editors' deep concern for impartiality of courts that hear immigration cases, expressed in the recent opinion titled www.cajfr.org