

The New York Times' Latest Act of Journalistic Malpractice Against Israel

by Hugh Fitzgerald

It is well-known that the New York Times slants its coverage of Israel – in its reports from the Middle East, in its editorials, and in the Op/Ed submissions it chooses to publish. Israel is so often the villain, the Palestinians so often the victim, In the Times' presentation of the Arab-Israeli conflict. A discussion of the latest example of the Times' bias Is discussed by Stephen Flatow here: "New York Times Covers Up for a Terrorist – and Smears Golda for Good Measure," by Stephen M. Flatow, Jihad Watch.
