

This town is coming like a goats town

Venice gets dolphins; Great Orme where they are believed to have come from.

He said he “thought I was seeing things” when he spotted them munching on a hedgerow outside his pub and “as they weren’t moving from their midnight feast” he called the cops. Andrew added: “They sent a patrol car down who turned on the big red lights. So, I’m sorry if the goats got arrested. But they were being very naughty. Also, close the gates behind you on the Orme. And stay 2m apart at all times.”

Despite North Wales Police moving the herd out Andrew tweeted again on Saturday to show they had returned.

He joked: “They’re back and they’re gathering in groups of more than two.”

Footage showed them wandering around the ghost town and nibbling on locals’ hedges as no-one could come out to stop them. The Great Orme goats are well known troublemakers in the area
