‘Tipsy’ Danish Jihadist Fooled Police on way to Kill Copenhagen Synagogue Security Guard

The late Danish Jihadi Omar Abdel Hamid El-Hussain

23 year old Danish born Muslim jihadist Omar Abdel Hamid El-Hussain, who was gunned down by Danish Police early Sunday morning, feigned being drunk, when he encountered police near his target, Copenhagen’s Great synagogue. That enabled him to murder Copenhagen Great Synagogue security guard, Dan Uzan. As posted earlier, 37-year old Uzan, Economcs graduate of the University of Copenhagen was the son of an Israeli father and Danish mother. He was hailed by those attending a Bat Mitzvah celebration at the synagogue as a hero for preventing further slaughter. Uzan, a volunteer at the Copenhagen synagogue was an Economist with the Danish Treasury. The Jewish Press reported what occurred in the run up to Hussein’s murderous attack that took the life of Uzan:

> The Muslim terrorist who killed Jewish guard Dan Uzan outside a Copenhagen synagogue late Saturday night was able to approach and kill him by acting drunk to fool two nearby policemen into thinking that he was not a terrorist.
> The policemen apparently did not understand that good Muslims don’t drink, even if they do murder.
> The Copenhagen Post wrote that the Danish newspaper Politiken reported that the attacker, Omar Abdel Hamid El-Hussein, “stumbled and weaved towards the synagogue, enabling him to get close to Dan Uzan, the man standing guard at the synagogue, and two policemen.”

El-Hussein, as The Jewish reported
