

Trinity College Historical Society rescind Richard Dawkins invitation over author's stance on Islam and sexual assault

From the University Times and international student magazine the calling Christians 'stupid', unpleasant as I might feel about that, his views in an academic context are rightly considered an opinion worthy of debate and discussion. Islam of course must not be examined, discussed or in any way criticised.

not impressed.