

Trump to Designate Muslim Brotherhood as Terror Org.

Youm7, Phares said the legislation, which was already approved by the House Judiciary Committee earlier this year and referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was held up due to the Obama administration's support of the group.

Clarion Project spearheaded a campaign to educate legislators and move the bill forward over the past year. The bill currently has bipartisan support.

In November of 2015, Senator Ted Cruz (R-TX) introduced Washington Free Beacon at the time.

The bill included is an unprecedented opportunity to educate members of Congress about the Muslim Brotherhood's involvement in terrorism. It reviews the Brotherhood's terrorist history and how it is banned by the governments of Egypt, Russia, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Bahrain and Syria. Egypt released videos showing the Brotherhood's involvement in terrorism and the Egyptian government's website warns about the Brotherhood lobby in the United States.

The bill also outlines how the Brotherhood is linked to CAIR, the Islamic Society of North America \(ISNA\) and the North American Islamic Trust \(NAIT\).

The U.S. designated the Brotherhood's Palestinian wing— Hamas— in 1997, but the group as a whole is allowed to operate in the U.S.

But not for much longer.
